The women voters of Kansas, the other day, having "slaughtered without mercy" every woman candidate who "appeared on a ticket anywhere in the State," the Chicago Herald is in doubt whether they were inspired by jealousy, or by consciousness of women's unfitness for public office. "In either case," it assumes, "woman appears as woman's worst enemy."

That is a totally unjustifiable assumption. There is no reason to suppose that the Kansas women were influenced by jealousy in refusing to vote for femine candidates. Jealousy does not prevent women voting for women in the many social and charitable organizations in which they take part. It does not prevent their following feminine leaders in society. Women are not less ardent in their loyalty to queens than men.

Neither in voting against women on the grond of their unfitness for public office, did they show any enmity to women. They rather showed their their friendship, by refusing to commit to them functious for which they are unprepared. Of course, they are unprepared for them, since they have not had the necessary preliminary

No; the women of Kansas in refusing to vote for the women candidates exhibited neither jealousy or enmity. They simply proved that their judgement is sound. They proved that under woman sufferage the performance of public functions will continue to be intrusted generally to men, because women know that men are better qualified for them than they are themselves. Women are jealous only be cause of their instinctive perception of the necessity of protecting men against 50 per cent. less than others. dangerous feminine attractions and distractions.

The experience of the Kansas election indicates that, although, theoret- Plums' for you. ically, woman sufferage would give the controlling power to women in all the oider communities, practically, would be exercised in the selection of men for the management of the responsible business of the State .-New York Sun.

Forrest Prince has proved to be a good breeder of size and color, and is as game a horse as ever looked through a bridle, and should sire speed, style and finish, for New York Drivers and Carriage Horses that are in demand at long prices, can-not go amiss by breeding to this fellow, for he is well bred, has proved a good breeder, with plenty of bone and good colors—bays and browns.

NOTICE. Terms of Breeding, 1893. I have been in the business for a num-ber of years, and am thankful for patron-age I have received. I have learned the only way to do justice to myself and patrons is by the season, money or note at time of service, with privilege of return next year free should the mare fall to be in foalr Should the horse or jack die, or be sold, money or note to be refunded.

This way it gives me something for the service of my stock, to the patron a show for his meney, and enable me to stand my stock for a less fee. No better bred colt in Saddle Horse Register than Strange Squirrel, 669, and few as good. Forrest Prince is close up to the fountain head of trotters, combining the blood of Hambletonian 10, Mambrino Chief 11, Edwin Forrest 49, and two noted pacing strains. Sper season.
